FORMER BELLE GLADE GIRL WEDS IN ORLANDO
Josephine Myrtle Gossely of Belle Glade became the bride of Wray Donald Paul, of Orlando in a double ring ceremony 4 p.m. March 7, at Trinity Lutheran Church in Orlando.

The granddaughter of Mrs. Henry Barber, of St. Louis, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Paul of Orlando spoke vows before the Rev. Albert Beardsley at a setting of palms, ivy and ferns and lighted tapers.

Miss Beverly Hall and Mr. Richard Murphy, soloists, and Mrs. M. W. Woolgar, organist presented a program of wedding music.

The bride wore a mauve wool jersey two piece dress with fitted bodice and full gored skirt. Embroidered - beading, neck, pearls and rhinestones trimmed the ensemble and mauve flowers trimmed her hat.

She carried a purple orchid on a white ribbon. Miss Michelle Garrett was the only attendant and wore a light blue jersey frock with scoop neck, full skirt and combi-bund and a white carnation corsage at the waistline of her dress.

William Paul was his best man and ushers were William Barber of Belle Glade and Joseph Barber of Pahokee, both members of the bride.

Mrs. Barber chose for her granddaughter's wedding a navy blue tulle dress with red and white flower trim.

A reception followed at the home of the bride in Winter Park. A four tier wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom graced the refreshment table.

The couple left for a wedding trip to St. Louis and Chicago and will be at home after March 22 at 4545 Edgewater Dr.

The bride attended Belle Glade High School, Forest Lake Academy, Maitland, Florida, Fletcher Academy, Asheville, N. C. and Madison College and is a photographer at Libby Freeman in Orlando.

The bridegroom's former home was in St. Louis and Kirkwood, Mo., where he graduated from Kirkwood High School. He is associated with his father in the bakery business in Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Barber and son of Belle Glade and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barber of Pahokee attended the wedding.

GLADES HARVEST QUEENS
Agricultural Pavilion at the Experiment Station. Such a combined effort, which would include the entire scope of Glades Agriculture, will leave many of the South's other FAIRs gasping in envy.

Now, the FAIR that is about on us - April 1st to 10th - is lining up its own of the quality of which other citizens will be proud. Last year's over 13,000 paid admissions are expected to be exceeded this year, and the year's event, which would support of the Community, as much for their plans as for the very excellent showing to be made.

The Florida Fresh Water Fish Commission will have an exhibit forty feet long which will display animals as well as fish.

The sugar industry will be represented by U. S. Sugar in an interesting and educational exhibit.

All Lake area schools will have exhibits so that proud Mamas and Pappas, as well as the kids will be pleased. The negro schools are included in this and usually make it hard for all contestants in the prize money.

Glades Queens - and we got ten boys - are entered in a contest sponsored by the Jaycees for the title of GLADES HARVEST QUEEN.

More and more the old carnival is disappearing and this year's show will be used and an iron-clad contract signed with a most reputable show man for the carnival attraction.

There are miniatures and money this year and the show will be clean and respectable.

Kids days will be announced, and special occasions arranged, for everyone is invited and promised a real FAIR.

What with Japanese beetles and seventeen year locusts, the noise attending the drilling of a well, and visiting relatives the Fuller family discover that "getting away from it all" isn't quite the Utopia they had been led to expect.

Gene Pope plays the part of the bewildered Newton Fuller. Joanne Hollady will be seen as Fuller's pessimistic wife, and Jennie Raulston as the daughter who's dazzled by a summer theatre actor's glamour. Jimmy Raulston will play the wealthy Uncle who's infatuated with the sound of his own voice and Irvin McTaggart will portray Raymond, a malevolent mope.

Others in the play will include Jane Allen, Lynn Norman, Cherry Corbin, Virginia Kelsoe and Mickey Herring.

The comedy is under the direction of Miss Barbara Starke, Senior English teacher, who has been conducting rehearsals for weeks. This production by the senior class is another one of the comedy hits from the gifted pens of Kaufman and Hart authors of "The Man Who Came To Dinner," "Once In A Lifetime" and "You Can't Take It With You."

TRACTOR DEALERS TO FURNISH EQUIPMENT FOR FFA PROGRAM

The regular meeting of the Belle Glade High School Agricultural Advisory Council was held at Pioneer Co-Op Thursday, March 11. All the tractor dealers of the area were present to present their plans for securing necessary equipment for the operation of the agricultural farm. The farm consists of 20 acres devoted to pasture and 40 acres devoted to truck crops.

The problems of furnishing equipment were discussed at the meeting. It was decided that Mr. Charlie Bolton, local Ford Tractor Dealer, would be chairman of a committee devoted entirely to securing the necessary equipment for carrying out a modern farm program. C. W. McDonald, representing the Oliver Tractor Co., and F. M. Shengstrey, representing International Harvester, were appointed as members of this committee.

It was agreed that all tractor dealers would take turns furnishing a tractor for the agricultural program much the same as the driver-education car is furnished to the school at present.

With such cooperation from the tractor dealers and other agencies in Belle Glade, the agricultural program at Belle Glade High School will be greatly accelerated.

UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS RECRUITING STA.

Former Marines who travel to the far East or travel to the distant corners of the United States may now do so according to recent information released by headquarters Marine Corps. Ex-leaders and sergeants and below on active file, are eligible upon re-enlistment to select their duty station in one of seven areas in continental United States or overseas.

In addition, former Marines who used to "beat their guns" about their work may now pick their own job and be retrained in a new occupational field. Approval for a new job of course will depend upon the individual's qualifications. However, he may submit a list of three fields of preference at the time of re-enlistment.

Some of the stateside duty stations where former Marines may now serve are in areas east of the Mississippi River including North and South Carolina and west of the Mississippi including Southern California; overseas bases include Japan and Korea.

The same options are offered Women Marines with the exception of Japan and Korea. For further details, contact your local Marine recruiting office or write: Officer in Charge, Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Post Office Building, Jacksonville.

FFA GIRLS TO ATTEND STATE CONVENTION

Mary Claire Crider, and Jeanette Friedheim are running for officer of State FFA treasury and parliamentarian at the Future Homemakers of America Convention to be held in Daytona Beach, April 2-4. Other FFA members planning to attend are Dorothy Breslar, Arlene Kirchman, Lois Ingram and Jane Norris.

CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

Victory over human limitations comes as we learn that man's true selfhood is spiritual, not material, and that he lives in Spirit, God, not in matter—this is a leading point in the Lesson-Sermon to be heard at Christian Science services Sunday.

In the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Matter" the following Bible verses will be read from Isaiah:

"Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord" (55:3-8).

The following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be read:

"The perfect, ideal, sends forth perfection, for God is Mind. Imperfect mortal mind sends forth its own resemblances, of which the wise man said, 'All is vanity'" (230-28).

The Golden Text is from Isaiah: "The grass withereth, the flower fadeeth; but the word of our God shall stand for ever" (40:3).

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Flowers
Lovely flowers are the smiles of God's goodness.

—William Wilburforce.

Woe is a delicate flower which would be a world without flowers. It would be a face without a smile; a feast without a welcome.

—Mrs. Clara Louise Balfour.

To me the meadow flower that blows can give thoughts that do often lie too deep for tears.

—William Wordsworth.

The only intelligence or substance of a thought, a seed, or a flower is God, the creator of it.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

To analyze the charms of flowers is like dissecting music; it is one of those things which is far better to enjoy than to attempt fully to understand.

—Henry T. Buckman.

There is not the least flower but seems to hold up its head and to look pleasantly, in the secret sense of the goodness of its heavenly Maker.

—Robert South.

60 SECOND SERMONS

TEXT: "Sadder than work left unfinished, is work that was never begun." —Christina Rossetti.

Some years ago an illiterate, but loyal, party member was appointed Postmaster in a small town. Some time passed, and then the Postmaster General received complaints that no mail was being sent from this post office. An inspector was sent to investigate.

He asked the Postmaster why no mail had been sent out. The appointee pointed to a big and nearly empty mailbox hanging on a hook in the corner.

"I ain't sent it out," he said, "because it ain't nowhere near full yet."

We know newspaper men who "some day" are going to write a book or a story or a series of articles. They are competent, skillful writers. They have experience and ideas. They are simply waiting "until the bag is full" before they start. Newspapermen are not alone in waiting. We are all guilty. No one can guess the total of worlds unconquered — nor how much poorer mankind is, because so many of us decided to wait "until the bag is full" before we sent out the "mail" that we have on hand today.

Feller said to me one time, "The reason why I backslide are hypocrites in the church, gossiping tongues and a crooked preacher that came through the country one time!"

I interrupted him, "looked him in the eye and corrected him." The reason you backslide, you quit praying, you quit reading the Bible, and you quit going to church." It soaked in right away and he confessed, "you're right."

A winner never quits and a quitter never wins.

A Hymn Is Born BY CLINT BONNER

Onward, Christian Soldiers

Of a half century's writing, an author is remembered for one night's work

During the week days the Rev. Sabina Barling-Gould ministered to his little congregation at the mill town of Horthby, England. On Sundays he converted his bachelor quarters into a meeting house. At night he held school in the same room and wrote into the small hours of the morning.

Whitman was a day of the festival for the children of Horthby. And the Rev. Sabina Barling-Gould was asked to escort the group. On the night before he searched hymnals for a song the children might sing as they marched. Owing to his search, he wrote some verses of his own and named them "Hymn for Procession with Cross and Banner" and sent to bed.

That same year young Sabina Barling-Gould saved a mill hand's daughter from drowning, sent her away to school, married her in 1885 . . . and kept on writing. At the death of his father, in 1881, he inherited a fortune, moved into a large house at Law Trenchard . . . and kept on writing.

For 55 years Barling-Gould wrote a novel a year. He also wrote books on religion, mythology, biography, travel, folklore, theology . . . and published a number of books. His "Lives of the Saints" covers 15 volumes. Yet, he wrote all his 55 books in long hand and never had a secretary. "I never wait for an inspiration," he said, "and when I begin a job I stay on it 'til it's finished."

His Rev. Barling-Gould lived 55 days more he would have been 56 when he died in 1934. It is said the literary catalogue of the British Museum holds more titles by him than any other author of his time. But Sabina Barling-Gould is best remembered for a children's marching song he wrote once when he was 35 . . . and to which a 29-year-old organist named Arthur Sullivan set to music in 1871.

Onward, Christian soldiers,
Marching in the light of God;
With the cross of Jesus
Over us and under our feet,
Onward, our banners
Lead us on to victory;
Onward, our banners
Lead us on to victory.

At the sign of triumph
Banner's host shall fly;
Onward, our banners
Lead us on to victory;
Onward, our banners
Lead us on to victory.

Onward, then, my people,
Join our happy throng,
Blind ours your voices
In the triumph song,
Glory, glory, and honor, |

Onward, then, my people,
Join our happy throng,
Blind ours your voices
In the triumph song,
Glory, glory, and honor, |

Onward, then, my people,
Join our happy throng,
Blind ours your voices
In the triumph song,
Glory, glory, and honor, |

Onward, then, my people,
Join our happy throng,
Blind ours your voices
In the triumph song,
Glory, glory, and honor, |

A considerable delegation of members of St. John the Apostle Church is expected to go to Ft. Pierce next Tuesday for the Spring meeting of the St. John's Episcopal Women's Auxiliary.

OUTLINE FOR THE INTERNATIONAL UNIFORM SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON TOPIC — "The New Commandment"

SCRIPTURE LESSON — John 13:12-17, 34-35; 14:21-24

By Rev. Robert Ford

INTRODUCTION:

The heart of today's lesson is the command of Christ "that ye love one another as I have loved you." Here we have Christ by word and action showing how Christians are to live one with another in this world. The disciples were arguing among themselves as to which was the most important of the great (John 22:24-27, Matt. 20:20-28). Jesus shows that the greatest is to be the servant of all, that true love is concerned with others before self.

I. THE PATTERN — John 13:12-17

Here we see Christ's love in action. Peter, who this night, protested Christ's washing his feet, later sees the meaning as he writes in I Peter 5:5 "all of you, gird yourselves with humility, to serve one another."

II. THE PRECEPT — John 13:34-35

It is possible to love because we are commanded to do so? Real love is expressed by John in John 4:19 "we love because He first loved us."

III. THE PREMIUM — John 14:21-24

A premium is defined as "something extra, or additional that serves as an incentive." Our Lord has commanded his disciples to obey him, and now he adds and additional promise: that the obedient would gain ever deeper insight into the knowledge of Christ (vs. 21) and a deeper experience of the abiding presence of God in Christ (vs. 23).

CONCLUSION:

A Christian friend was once speaking with a shabbily dressed old woman. A sophisticated friend remonstrated with him saying "You ought to consider your rank." The general answered "What if my Lord had considered his rank?" "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; even as I have loved you, that you also love one another."

SOUTHERN BELL'S REPORT INDICATES CONTINUED GROWTH IN DIXIELAND

Telephone expansion in the South during 1953 continued to reach higher levels of achievement, but the impact of the high costs of providing service remains a major problem, according to the annual report of the Southern Bell Telephone Company released in Belle Glade recently. More than a quarter-million Southern Bell telephones were added during the year, bringing the total in service past the 40-million mark. Southern Bell serves Belle Glade and 1,033 other exchanges in nine Southern states. The report was released here by Mr. E. F. Reddy, District Manager of the Company.

Investing in new construction of telephone plant and service improvements at the rate of more than $3,600,000 per week, Southern Bell spent a record $189,530,704 to meet the continuing demand for telephone service during 1953. This was the largest amount ever spent by the Company in a one-year period and brought the cost of its post-war expansion program to well over a billion dollars.

The report, made by President Fred J. Turner for the Board of Directors, pointed out that this expansion program reflected both the great demand for telephone service and the company's faith in the economic growth and future of the South.

As the demand for service continues strong, the report noted, it is necessary that the Company realize adequate earnings to attract the large sums of investors' capital required for continued expansion, or its ability to continue to meet the demand will be seriously hampered.

Progress in Many Ways
Southern Bell's progress took many forms during 1953. Placed in installing telephones at the rate of more than five per minute of every working day, the Company achieved a net gain of 286,500 telephones. More than 1,500,000 orders involving work on the customers' premises were handled—a record. Fifty-four of every 100 families in Southern Bell territory now have telephones.

The report also noted that 576 independent companies joined Southern Bell in serving the South. These companies serve more than 1,200 communities and in 1953 brought their total number of telephones in service to more than 1,000,000.

Telephone usage reached high levels as Southern Bell customers made about 28,940,000 long calls per day—an average of seven calls per telephone, highest daily "calling rate" in the nation.

Responding to needs for rapid communications in the South's agricultural areas, Southern Bell in 1953 spent $7,000,000 for new telephone facilities to meet this demand. Telephone service was provided for 90,389 new rural subscribers during the year. Since 1945, the Company has spent more than $175,000,000 in rural telephone expansion work.

The technical quality of Southern Bell service continued to improve during the year. The report said the time an average telephone was free from service interruptions has now extended to 48 months as compared to 29 months in 1939.

Telephone wages and salaries continued to be the principal operating expense, consuming 49.3 percent of the Company's expense dollar in 1953. The report discloses that Southern Bell's 60,681 employees received wages and salaries totaling $208,683,209.

Next to wages, the Company's biggest single operating expense was taxes. The 1953 tax bill amounted to more than $157,000,000. This included operating taxes of $82,768,000 levied directly on the Company, and Federal, State and Local excise taxes totaling $74,284,000. All told, about 31 percent of the Company's monthly bill went for taxes, or about $3.18 per month per telephone.

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

Reserve Obligations After Discharge

This is the first of a series regarding Reserve obligations following release from active duty in the Armed Forces of the United States.

The following categories of men have a Reserve obligation:

- (1) Men inducted, enlisted, or appointed between June 24, 1948 and June 19, 1951; (2) Men enlisted between June 24, 1948 and June 19, 1951, for one year of active duty; (3) Men enlisted, inducted, or appointed after June 19, 1951, and before their 25th birthday anniversary. (Reserve obligation does not apply to men entering military service after their 25th birthday anniversary.)

The number of years men must spend in the Reserves is outlined in the Universal Military Training and Service Act, not in the Armed Forces Reserve Act. However, the Armed Forces Reserve Act does provide that all enlistments, and obligated periods of service in Reserve components, in force at the beginning of any future war or national emergency declared by Congress, shall be extended until six months after the end of such war or national emergency. This provision does not apply to Presidentially-declared emergencies such as the present one.

- (1) If drafted between June 24, 1948 and June 19, 1951, there is no Reserve obligation when active duty service has been at least 24 months. Regular enlistees, under age 26 when entered, must serve 36 months active duty to be freed from Reserve obligation. However, if during that period there has been only 21 or 24 months' active duty as a draftee or enlistee, there is a five-year Reserve obligation. On separation, one is automatically placed in the Ready Reserve. After three years therein may be transferred to the Standby Reserve.
- (2) If one volunteered at age 18 before June 19, 1951, and served only one year, there was a six-year Reserve obligation. Similarly, on separation, one was placed in Ready Reserve. He gets out . . . or stays in . . . the same way as does the pre-June 19, 1951 draftee.
- (3) By contrast, after June 19, 1951, men initially inducted or enlisted if under age 26, have it tougher. "Initially" enlisted or inducted applies to men who have no prior service in any component of the Armed Forces, active or inactive. They get an eight-year service liability, set by law. This can be put in by a total of five years' active and Ready Reserve service, followed by three years in the Standby Reserve. Four-year men would have one year in the Ready Reserve; three-year men, two years; and two-year men, three years.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
My friend Joe Abram, who conducts the Florida Survey and Poll as it again and his first bulletin dealing with the coming elections was released March 2.

In view of the amazing accuracy of the Abram poll since it was established, many observers who put little stock in such surveys in the past are giving this particular poll full consideration since it accurately forecast the election of Governor Fuller Warren and Dan McCarry, the defeat of Claude Pepper by George Smathers and the election of President Eisenhower in 1952.

This first bulletin seems to concur with the view of competent observers at this time and the rural vote and 12 percent of the city vote. The poll is based on an estimated total vote of 850,000.

In view of the fact that the campaign is just starting, the result of this first poll does not necessarily indicate the final outcome. At this stage of gubernatorial campaign anything can happen.

There is no evidence at this time of any public interest and there are no issues so far that are inclined to arouse the voter. John, in the dual capacity of Acting Governor and gubernatorial candidate, is a colorful figure. He apparently has lined up powerful political leaders and it is generally conceded that the politician, state and local, largely favor him.

If Abram is correct in his estimate that the vote will be in the neighborhood of 850,000 and that women will wield more influence than in the past, final results will depend upon the ability of the respective candidates to arouse the great mass of independent voters whose action at this time is more or less unpredictable.

In his last campaign, Brailley Othman demonstrated his ability to arouse the public through his radio. Some observers felt that with the momentum he had developed if he had had a little more time he might have won. He certainly came up fast and proved himself an able campaigner.

Collins has an enviable legislative record, has strong support from conservative groups, is making friends wherever he appears, and will attract a large number of former McCarthy voters who feel that he will do his utmost to carry out the original McCarthy program.

Carlye's father has given him their unequalled endorsement.

Of the three contenders John is in the most favorable position from a vote-getting standpoint. A small county man he will command strong support from the small counties throughout the state. His labor affiliation appeals to the labor group and, while labor has never gone "down the line" for any candidate, John is in a better position to get the bulk of this vote than are his opponents. The man "in office" always has an advantage, particularly with municipal and county officials.

Unfavorable press reaction, mostly in the larger cities, can be largely discounted as far as influencing votes is concerned. Metropolitan dailies do not have a very good record in regard and attacks on a candidate often boomerang, doing the candidate more good than harm.

Othman and Collins are not to be discounted. They know that John is the man to beat and as the campaign progresses they will be more inclined to train their guns on him than on each other. These tactics can also backfire if overdone and a lot depends on how the candidates handle themselves in the weeks ahead and when the campaign gets under full steam.

In the campaign for Railroad and Public Utilities Commissioner in groups 1 and 2, we find incumbent Wilbur King leading Arthur Adams and Jerry Carter leading Davis Atkinson, according to the Abram poll.

Here again the men "in office" have a tremendous advantage and opponents will have a hard time unseating them. King and Carter are able and experienced campaigners with valuable contacts throughout the state. Public interest in these races is never very great and this is another advantage they have.

A lot can happen in the next two months, so it's well to remember that there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip.

BANGS DISEASE CONTROL IS OBJECTIVE OF PROGRAM

Farm leaders are aiming what they hope will be a knock-out blow at one of the worst livestock diseases in this country—brucellosis.

A program was set up to wipe out brucellosis at a recent Southern Brucellosis Conference. This Conference was sponsored by the Progressive Farmer, a Southern farm magazine, in cooperation with the National Brucellosis Committee, Southern Agricultural Workers Association, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

You may know brucellosis as Bang's Disease, or contagious abortion in livestock, and as undulant or Malta fever in humans. The ninth most important human disease, it can mean untold suffering and expense.

"If I could have figured out a way for my family to be taken care of, I would have killed myself," one victim told a Progressive Farmer editor.

"Many people argue that the disease presents no health problem because cooking of meat or pasteurization of milk kills the brucella germs," an article in this farm magazine states.

"However," it continues, "they forget that a large number of people, including almost every housewife, handle meat before it is cooked. And far too many people still drink unpasteurized milk."

To destroy this danger, a

Regional Committee will be set up to serve as a clearing house for information and to act as a coordinator in the brucellosis program.

This committee will collect and distribute news of the program's progress.

The Conference recommended that each State form a State Brucellosis Committee with representatives from all segments of the livestock industry and its allied agencies.

Each state committee will develop a brucellosis eradication program to cover three main fields:

- 1) Needed legislation, 2) necessary funds, and 3) an adequate education program.
- Among states already at work is Wisconsin. She has launched a main brucellosis control effort by the formation of a state-wide, 28-man committee composed of delegates from every farm and livestock, breed and professional organization in the state.
- The committee drafted a program of control and eradication that has received the unanimous endorsement of all groups. Effective legislation was initiated and supported.

CHRYSLER APPOINTS REGIONAL SALESMANAGER

The appointment of Elmo J. Joseph as regional sales manager for the Jacksonville region is announced by E. M. Braden, general sales manager, Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

TWO CIVIC LEAGUES JOIN EFFORTS IN SECURING A COMMUNITY CENTER HOME

The Negro Men's and Women's Civic Leagues have banded together to help the community of Belle Glade get a Community Center Building which will contain a nursery, auditorium, club rooms and a library. The nursery will take care of babies as well as pre-school age children.

All of us know the importance of a nursery. Many of us have seen children with inadequate care while their mothers were working. The mothers have often wished for some safe place to leave their young ones. This building with a competent worker will take care of this situation.

The auditorium will be an all purpose room which will take care of teen-age youngsters after school hours. It will be so nice to know that our children are receiving good wholesome recreation!
